Horse Guards, March 10.

A Dispatch, dated Osnabruck, February 28, 1795, of which the following is an Extract, has been received by His Royal Highness the Duke of York from the Honorable Lieutenant-General Harcourt, and communicated by His Royal Highness to the Right Honorable Henry Dundas, One of His Majesty's Principal Secretaries of State.

I lose no Time in acquainting your Royal Highness, that on the 24th Instant the Enemy advanced in Force upon the Posts of Nienhuys and Velthuys, which were under the Command of Lieutenant-Colonel Strutt, and occupied by the Loyal Emigrants and a Detachment of Rohan and Bouille's Corps. These Troops, after the most gallant Resistance, were forced, with the Loss of about One Hundred killed and wounded, to fall back upon Northorn, and the French occupied those Two Posts in some Force. They also surprized a small Picquet of Salm and Hompesch Hussars in Oldensaul, which they occupied, but were repulsed, when advancing on this Side of that Place. Lieutenant-General Abercomby, who commands at Bentheim, &c. intended to attack and re-occupy the Posts of Nienhuys and Velthuys. This Measure was, however, rendered unnecessary, by the Retreat of the French, who left all those Posts on the 26th, directing their March towards Hardenberg, and Lieutenant-Colonel Strutt immediately re-occupied them.

The last Reports we have received state, that the Enemy are precipitately marching their Troops from Hardenberg and Groeninguen towards Zwall, and that they have even evacuated Covoerden, taking with them the Ammunition and Part of the Cannon from that Place. It would be unjust in the extreme not to mention to your Royal Highness the particular Gallantry and good Conduct of the Loyal Emigrants; they have shewn it in every Instance, and particularly in this last, in which, I am sorry to say, they have had Four Officers and above Fifty Man killed and wounded. Major M'Murdo, and and the other Officers left with the Sick, have been ſent back, and, I am happy to add that from their Reports, our Sick meet with the beſt Treatment poſſible from the French.

Horſe Guards, March 10.

A Diſpatch, dated Embden, March 1, 1795, of which the following is an Extract, has been received by His Royal Highneſs the Duke of York, from Major-General A. Gordon, and communicated by His Royal Highneſs to the Right Honorable Henry Dundas, One of His Majeſty's Principal Secretaries of State.

AN Opportunity for England offering this Moment, and of which Lieutenant-General Harcourt cannot avail himſelf, I have the Honor to report, for the Information of your Royal Highneſs, that the Fore-Poſts, under the Command of Major-General Lord Cathcart, extending from Fort Bourtange to Neicoe Shanks, were attacked and drove in, with ſome Loſs, on the Morning of the 27th.

I am informed by his Lordſhip, that he was retiring by his Left with his whole Force, conſiſting of Major-General David Dundas's Brigade of Cavalry, the 6th Brigade of Infantry, with ſome Detachments of Foreign Light Troops, and intended recroſſing the River Ems at Rhude and Meppen.

I alſo underſtand that the Fore-Poſts of the Left Wing were drove in ſome Days before, but I have not been able to learn any Particulars.
